The University
HOMESTEAD ASSOCIATION

THE LANDS OF THE ABOVE-NAMED ASSOCIAtion are situated in San Francisco and are eligibly and most desirably located, adjoining the grounds purchased by the Presbyterian University Society, on which College buildings are to be at once erected. The site is less than thirty minutes ride from Montgomery street; being just west or back of the lands of the South San Francisco Homestead and Railroad Association, and the Bay View Park, almost within a stone's throw of ST. MARY'S COLLEGE.

The tract will require little or no grading, there being scarcely a single lot on which it would not be feasible to build without any change of grade. It commands a

Beautiful View of the Bay,

And its opposite shore, and has a soil of extreme richness. So great are the natural attractions of the spot that very many of the wealthy citizens of San Francisco have already purchased whole blocks in the same tract, and design building residences thereon.

The Rev. E. Thomas, D. D.,

Is President of the Association, Lester L. Robinson formerly Vice President of the Sacramento Railroad Company, is the Treasurer, and Thomas D Lewis, formerly of Portland, Secretary.

Four lots, 2x120 feet each, constitute a share, costing $315—paid in monthly installments of $10 each, after the first payment of $10 has been made.

Maps and books giving full information of the workings of the Association can be obtained at the store of J. J. PARRISH & CO.

It is an easy and a cheap way for young men to procure property which will in a few years make them independent.

DATES TO APRIL 16.

Firedamp Explosion in Pennsylvania.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., April 12.—A firedamp explosion in Bancroft Colliery killed 12 miners among them being John Mather, the well known cricket player

Progress of the Pacific Railroad.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—Official information has been received that the third section, (twenty miles,) on the central branch of the Union Pacific Railroad is completed.

Georgia Politics

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 13.—At a mass meeting of freedmen to-day several speeches were made by white conservative politicians. The resolutions favored the Republican party.

Mexican News

NEW YORK, April 14.—Mexican advices dated Liberal Head Quarters, Queretaro, March 22d, and San Luis, March 20th have been received. These confirm the report of the complete rout of the Imperialists. Several roads for escape are still open for Maximilian. The people of Queretaro aid him liberally with supplies. The besieging army are almost destitute. The contest turns on the question as to which army will be starved out first. Escobedo is considered incompetent to command.

Coahuila is again in rebellion, under the leadership of Herrera. He proposes to erect Laguayra District into a separate State. Trouble is apprehended from this movement. The insurgents may easily march on Saltillo.

European News.

NEW YORK, April 13.—Ship Deutchland, from Southampton, has arrived.

The Paris correspondent of the London Standard says there is a suspicious feeling that the French Government stands committed to a scheme in regard to Luxemburg, which, while it fails to allay the apprehensive irritation caused in Russia, is regarded as likely to precipitate a European war.

The official Gazette of Holland positively denies that the Duchy has been ceded to France, and adds, that the great powers interested have come to an understanding on the subject.

A telegram from Luxemburg says handbills were circulated in town in favor of annexation to France, and instigating the inhabitants to acts of violence against Prussia. Four regiments of Prussians had consequently entered the garrison of the Fortress attempted to revolt.

In the North German Parliament, Herr Von Bringsen asked Bismarck whether there was any truth in the rumor of negotiations between Holland and France for the cession of Luxemburg, and whether Prussia was preparing to resist, and attempt to sever Luxemburg from the rest of Germany. Bringsen declared that all parties would be united in giving the most powerful support to prevent the separation of that ancient Duchy from Germany. He said we wish for peace, but we will surely never shrink from war if it be necessary to repel the very first attempt by France to attack our honor. Count de Bismarck gave a quiet and reasonable answer to the warlike tendencies of France, and strike them in the hand.

Bismarck, in reply, said the Prussian Government did not know that arrangements for the cession of the Duchy had been concluded between France and Holland, but the Federal Diet in Frankfort on Foreign power will venture to endanger the undisputed right of Germany.

A rumor prevailed in Vienna that the preliminaries of an alliance have been agreed upon by Prussia and Austria. The official gazette denies this.

The Vienna correspondent of a Berlin paper says the Austrian Ambassador at Berlin has been instructed to declare if the Prussian Government in the hour of danger. Austria will stand by Germany.

The London News says editorially that Russian America has been acquired by its natural purchaser, the great progressive power of whose advances we cannot complain so long as achieves them by legitimate means. The Times' speaking of the same subject says we have no right to protest against an act entirely within the jurisdiction of the Governments of Russia and the United States. Let us not place ourselves in a false position by vain demonstrations. Let us forbear to fasten upon this unexpected transaction a hostile construction, or to insist upon rights and interests incapable of being maintained.

The Emir of Bokhara has been defeated by the natives of an adjacent province, and has been forced to allow it to become an independent State.

LONDON, April 13.—In the case of war between France and Prussia, Russia and Austria will remain neutral, unless with Russia.

LAST NIGHT'S DISPATCHES.

Supreme Court on Reconstruction—Steamship Matters.

NEW YORK, April 15.—The United States Supreme Court refused to entertain the Mississippi bill against the Pres dent, but allowed the Georgia bill to be filed on the same objection did not apply in the case.

The Central American Transit Company have issued 7 per cent convertible bonds in front to provide the means of river and harbor improvements. The steamship line has been taken at $2,000,000. The Pacific mail stock closed at 134½. There is a rumor that the P. M. S. S. Company have bought off Pearson's proposed opposition line. This causes great dissatisfaction among California shippers. The advertisements of this opposition line have been withdrawn from the papers.

Central and South America.

Supreme Court Decision.

NEW YORK, April 16.—In the case of Pearson vs. Deane, the Supreme Court gave judgment to Deane in the amount of fifty dollars, the parties to pay their own costs. The court held that common carriers are bound to take all passengers of good character who offer to pay their passage. If they prove to be turbulent characters, and are allowed to continue aboard until the sailing of the ship it is too late to refuse passage. The motive of Pearson was humane, but was legally unjustifiable. The damages recovered below must be paid.

By the arrival of the steamer Sierra Nevada we have some interesting news from Lower California. It appears that about the first of April, Gaston d'Artois, who figured in the courts of San Francisco in so called piratical case a few months ago, landed at Lapax from Mazatlan and proclaimed that Navarrette, a revolutionary exile, would reach the former place by next steamer with two hundred men to reinstate himself as Governor of the Territory. On his route from San Jose to Lapaz d'Artois enlisted a few of Navarrette's adherents and took San Antonio by surprise, making prisoners of the officials. From San Antonio he went to Lapaz, and attacked the house of the Governor, when he found himself surrounded by Liberals. D'Artois and his small band fled but were arrested and overtaken, and d'Artois was ordered to be shot as a private letter informs us, on the 5th of April. If any rate nothing more has been heard about him.

We have later dates from Northern Mexico. By private letters received in this city, we learn that the Liberal forces, under Gen Escobedo, had compelled the city of Queretaro, leaving no means for Maximil

A Serious Blunder

We regard the action of the Democratic Convention of Washington Territory on the question of negro suffrage as quite inexcusable. Their resolution on this subject is in direct opposition to the general policy of the party The Democrats throughout the South are congratulating the negroes on their acquisition of the elective franchise, are mixing with them in political meetings, are soliciting their votes, and in every way expressing a hearty consciousness in their enfranchisement. The leading Democratic papers of the North look on this movement with every manifestation of approval, and advise their brethren in the South to make the most of the negro vote. Under these circumstances the resolution of the Washington Territory Democracy against negro suffrage is a grievous blunder. Such ill advised action is fraught with great danger to the party, as it places the Democracy of the Northwest in direct antagonism to the policy of the party in the East and the South, and seriously threaten to create incurable dissensions and divisions. Good Democrats had aright to expect that the Convention would act differently,—that it would mount at once upon the platform of progressive Democracy and make the principles put forth in its declaration harmonize with those lately adopted by the party in other sections of the country. But it refused to do so; and the consequence is that this party in Washington Territory stands opposed for the first time to the Palmetto Democracy. This state of affairs may well produce solicitude, and even excite alarm in the minds of those who feel an interest in the advancement and success of the party But Democrats must have patience. Two years hence their party in Washington Territory will [illegible] the change that has been wrought [illegible] "National Democracy," and will [illegible] of negro suffrage. They are a little behind time in that Territory, but will come [illegible] to the requirements of their Southern friends It would be entirely inexcusable in these days supported the Southern Democracy [illegible] the whole period of the rebellion and for many years previously, to abandon it now.

Mail Service in Eastern Oregon.

The [illegible] severity and slowness of the mail service in Eastern Oregon has been almost from time immemorial a fruitful theme for newspaper discussion and general malediction. The service in Eastern Oregon has been especially inefficient and has caused much inconvenience here as well as there The editor of the Umatilla [illegible] of a tour in the Eastern part of the State on which occasion to notice these delinquencies and [illegible] and remarks severely upon them It [illegible] chos about one week for the mail to go from Portland to La Grande, a distance by a direct route of not more than one hundred miles From numerous complaints which have come to us from Lawson and Baker counties, we are made aware that our paper is about two weeks [illegible] that part of the State. This is not [illegible] We are much gratified to learn that there is a prospect of amendment in the mail service there. Thri weekly trips from the Dalles through the John Day country, and thence to Boise City will be direct and expeditious, and will supply a want that has long been felt This is the proper route for a mail [illegible] between the points men tioned and as it is shorter, so it must be quicker than any other Hitherto all the mails for Union and Baker counties as well as for Idaho Territory, have been sent via Walla Walla a long and circuitous route. As we state a few days ago it is understood that a change will shortly be effected whereby the mail will be sent from Umatilla to La Grande by the [illegible] over the Blue Mountains. These changes in the service will greatly expedite the transmission of the mails. Newspaper publishers have as great an interest in these matters as any other persons can have, as it is of the first importance to them that their papers should have regular and quick despatch to their place of destination [illegible] may be a great event when the people in all parts of the State are able to obtain the news the same week it is published.

The [illegible] letter addressed to us by a person who avows himself "one of your (our) subscribers" taking exceptions to our remarks on the [illegible] that paper in opposing and denouncing the [illegible] meetings in this city. The author [illegible] though he gives neither his name [illegible] letter is undoubtedly a personage [illegible] near Buona Vista, Polk [illegible] the country [illegible] and features of his [illegible] are [illegible] that no one who has [illegible] with it can fail to recognize [illegible] on us several letters of an [illegible] taking the authenticity of the [illegible] doubt, of course, we declined to [illegible] who complained bitterly, and [illegible] letter, which we at first thought [illegible] to let the world see what an [illegible] second thought concluded the [illegible] was not worth the candle," He is [illegible] individuals whose Bible is the Post [illegible] and who denounce all who [illegible] with them as "fools and bigots," yet [illegible] are so completely given up to bigotry as themselves We are glad that he has found an appropriate organ for the dissemination of his views.

The "organ" is indignant because Washington Territory has no Governor, and excitedly exclaims that the Territory, like the ten rebel States, is the victim of the party policy of the Radicals [illegible] the Territory is the "victim" of a party policy, A. Johnson, whom its Copperhead convention endorsed, is the victimizer. Washington Territory had a Governor who was a capable officer and attentive to his duties; but the President dismissed him, not for any valid cause, but solely from partisan malignity. The Senate aware of this fact, refused to confirm any of Johnson's creatures for the place; and the office remains vacant. Washington Territory is therefore the "victim of the party policy" of A. Johnson. The "organ" is weeping, no doubt chiefly because a good constitutional Democrat,—one of that class who not long ago, had nurses for this Abolition Government, is now excluded from the enjoyment of a place of trust and profit under it.

The Albany Journal makes an old story forcibly illustrate the consequences of the Copperhead view of the political situation. Alluding to the idea that the acts of individuals cannot affect the rights or conditions of the body-politic, and that the revolted States have therefore lost none of their rights by rebellion, the Journal proceeds to make the following illustration The Duke of York was a Bishop of the Church of England, and also a General in the army. One day he was heard to swear by a friend who rebuked him for his profanity. The Duke excused himself by saying that it was only as a General he swore. "But," said his friend, "your Grace, when the General is dressed, what becomes of the Bishop?" So if the people forming a political community have lost all their rights by the act of rebellion, what becomes of the State?

STATE ITEMS

The Oregon City municipal election will take place on the 6th of May

A three story brick hotel will be erected at Albany the coming summer The Journal says that fifty houses are now going up in that town.

The editor of the Albany Journal who recently came to this State from California, says of the rates of wages here We are glad to see that labor is so well rewarded in this State The average rate of wages is about one third higher than in California for all kinds of mechanical employment In this town in all the leading trades the rate is from $4 to $5 per day

A letter from Canyon City to the Mountaineer, dated April 15th, contains the following: A corporation has been formed, with a capital stock of $20 000, the object of which is the erection of a quartz mill, at Elk creek, to crush quartz rock for reward the number of shares is two hundred Already more than one half the capital stock has been taken and from present indications, a good sight stamp mill will be in successful operation by the 15th of August next I notice that the most prominent and influential citizens of our county are among the subscribers, and their energy and integrity are guarantees of the ultimate success of the undertaking It must not be supposed however, that the Elk creek district is the only one in the country rich in quartz Granite, Olive, Vincent and Dads are all proved quartz mines which need but labor and enterprise to render productive I am informed also that very rich quartz has been struck by Alvord & Co, on their quartz lode near Marysville, and that one pan of decomposed quartz from the center of the lode yielded the sum of one hundred and fifty dollars The parties owning this lead are making preparations to erect machinery for working it, which will no doubt yield handsomely for any outlay they may make The season here is opening finely and great preparations are making to enjoy its favorableness to advantage Clark & Co, of Marysville, are constructing a hydraulic, and will use four jets—the main pipe having a capacity of fourteen inches. Other companies are constructing improved machinery for working their claims and from the indications it is safe to predict that our mines will turn out more this year than last.

The Lemhi Mines.

[From the Lewiston Journal, April 12]

The Lemhi mines seem to attract more attention the present season than any other. Parties who have wintered in San Francisco and other towns in California, as also in Portland, affirm that the principal talk about emigration to new mines, is confined to the Lemhi country, and the first notices in the papers of the lower country of a movement towards the mines, is for the most part limited to those who are bound for Lemhi. And yet but little has been placed on record of the real character of these new mines. The reports are generally vague and indefinite, and inferences are drawn from a few prospects made there before the snow fell last winter. There is not much doubt that "distance lends enchantment to the view," and as is usually the case, many will go there only to be disappointed. That section will no doubt be visited by several thousand men from the coast the ensuing season, and we have good reason to believe that many will go there and do well

All reports from there confirm the belief that the area of that mining section is quite as large if not larger than the Blackfoot region, but no reports make the mines as rich.

There is this to encourage miners in going there, namely, most of the country west and south of the present camps of Lemhi, is comparatively an unprospected country. The country bordering on Salmon river and immediately south between the big bend of Salmon near the mouth of the Lemhi river, and the south fork of Salmon river near Warrens, is known to contain evidences of gold Prospecting parties have hastily been over it and found in many places spots where from five to eight dollars per day could be made with sluices, but no big strikes were made, and hence the remoteness of that section from the settlements imposed objections to making camps there where only small wages could be made.

The mouth of the Lemhi river is about one hundred miles north of east from Warren's camp There is an Indian trail leading from Warren's to Lemhi valley. This trail extends across the South Fork of Salmon river near Warrens, and south of the north fork behind the first range of mountains next the north fork, and is reported to pass over a country bearing abundant evidences of gold. In 1862, a party of several miners from Florence made a trip through and over much of that country. The passes are numerous and easily made. The grazing is good for animals North of the trail and near the north fork of Salmon, is a section of country bearing evidences of recent volcanic action. Warm and hot springs are not unfrequent, and some report that in 1862, one of the, mountains at night, gave unmistakable evidences of being volcanic and in active operation.

Parties from Slate creek will go out early in May to improve the Indian trail from Warrens, so as to open a better route for pack animals. The distance from Lewiston to the mouth of the Lemhi is not to exceed 200 miles But it cannot well be traveled with animals till the month of June From the middle of June till the fall of snow it is by far the best route from this place to Lemhi, and should the subsequent reports of these mines fully confirm those which have been given, this route will be much traveled the coming season.

A party of three men started from Elk City on Wednesday of last week, intending to go through direct from that place to Lemhi on snow-shoes. They will keep on the north side of the north fork of Salmon river, and near the summit of the first divide till they arrive at the sink of the Lemhi. They expect to reach the mines within the distance of one hundred and fifty miles One of the parties is familiar with the route The usually traveled route from Elk City is via Big Hole pass. The route they have now taken lies South of the Big Hole pass and is much shorter

The Lemhi mines are in Idaho county, and until further legislation the citizens will be compelled to do all their county business at Florence Hence there will be a legal necessity for a thorough fare for travel direct between the two points, and via Warrens, the most feasible

What effect the opening of this route may have upon the trade of this place, can only be determined by future developments It would certainly be advisable for our merchants to post them selves in relation to the advantages and disadvantages of this trade, and should their facilities for supplying that region with any description of goods be better than those of other rival points, let them be prompt in furnishing these supplies. The route as far as Warrens will be always an open and extensively traveled route during the six months ensuing May next There will remain only one hundred miles over a new and comparatively unexplored country, and this so far as is now known promises well as a field for prospecting adventurers If this route be open it may form the line of travel for much of the eastern emigration which is reported to come from the States the coming season; a result which could in no wise do us a permanent injury.

The Albany Journal —This paper has been revived under the management of Mr W. Pickett, late of California, has been enlarged to a seven-column sheet, and will hereafter appear on Saturday of each week The first number of the new series gives evidence of ability and painstaking on the part of the editor, and indicates that the Journal will be one of the best of our Oregon papers There is room for a paper of its class in Linn county, and the Union party there should give it a general and ungrudging support. That it will wield an influence in that part of the State, the appearance of the number before us does not permit us to doubt. We congratulate our friends in Linn county on having a sound and useful home paper.

Severe.—Under the head, "The Rump Rebuked," the Lafayette Courier says: "In appreciation of the worthiness of Hon. C Humason, whose appointment as Collector of the port of Astoria, the Rump Senate, at the instance of Senator Williams refused to confirm, the citizens of Dalles City on the 25th ult., unanimously chose that gentleman Mayor of their city." We call that severe on the "Rump Senate."

Directors:

JOHN PARROTT. CHAS E. McLANE,

LOUIS A. GARNETT.

LOUIS A. GARNETT President and Manager

JOHN NEWTON, Jr Chemist and Superintendent

THIS COMPANY HAVING GREATLY enlarged their Refining Works, and introduced many other important improvements, are pleased to announce that they feel warranted in again reducing materially their terms of doing business.

THE TARIFF OF CHARGES

Which they now submit to the public—considered with reference to the cost of material and labor—is lower than in any other part of the world, and secures to the mining interest of this coast an important increase in both the minting and commercial value of bullion.

Their charges hereafter will be as follows:

FOR ASSAYING DEPOSITS FOR UNPARTED GOLD BARS

One eighth of one per cent (heretofore a quarter) for all amounts over $1,000, and two dollars for any smaller sum. Returns made in twenty-four hours

FOR ASSAYING DEPOSITS FOR UNPARTED SILVER BARS

Two dollars for the gold contained, up to $1,600, and one-eighth of one per cent, for all amounts over that sum, and one per cent, on the silver contained. Returns made in twenty four hours.

FOR REFINING DEPOSITS MADE FOR COIN OR FINE BARS

On bullion under 300 parts gold, 2 cents per ounce

On bullion from 300½@600 parts gold, 4 cents per ounce.

On bullion from 600½@750 parts gold, 6 cents per ounce

On bullion from 750½@940½ parts gold, 8 cents per ounce

Above 950 the only charge will be for coinage But there will be no charge for refining less than two dollars.

FOR COINING GOLD.

This charge will be the same as at the Mint—a half of one per cent—and which is paid by us to that institution But there will be no charge in future for making fine gold or silver bars from bullion refined by us.

RETURNS IN COIN IN FORTY-EIGHT HOURS.

Silver contained in deposits for coin will be accounted for at the same rate customary at the Mint

Gold bars of other Assayers, of good standing, will be cashed by us at the highest market rates

Dust and bullion can be forwarded to us from any part of the country, and returns made through Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express.

CHARGES AT U S BRANCH MINT

For the convenience of those not familiar with the terms of the Mint we subjoin the tariff of charges now in force at that institution

For refining bullion under 800 parts gold, 3 cents per ounce

For refining bullion from 800½@600 parts gold, 5 cents per ounce.

For refining bullion from 600½@750 parts gold, 7 cents per ounce

For refining bullion from 750½@830 parts gold, 11 cents per ounce

For refining bullion from 830½@940½ parts gold, 14 cents per ounce

The charge for bullage is half of one per cent, and the charge for making fine silver bars, the same.

Comparing the net value of deposits for coinage, with the proceeds of unparted gold bars sold in the market—assuming that the bars have cost ½ of one per cent—they must be sold at the following par rates to equal the return which would have been made had they been deposited for coinage

860 par to equal Mint return, at refining charge of 14 cents

865 par to equal Mint return, at refining charge of 14 cents.

865 par to equal San Francisco A & R Works return, at refining charge of 8 cents mh14d2p3m

SUICIDE.—The Coroner, Dr Poppleton, was called upon Saturday, to hold an inquest on the dead body of a German named Andrew Christien, near the residence of Rev. Mr Caffrey, four or five miles west of this city. Christien lived alone in a little cabin, and had seemed for several months to be laboring under an aberration of mind The last that was seen of him alive, was on the morning of Saturday, the 13th. Missing him, and suspecting something wrong, some of the neighbors went to the cabin last Saturday morning and found him lying in his bed, with all the top of his head, to the chin, blown off, evidently by a charge from a musket lying across him. The appearance of the body indicated that he had been dead a week, and all the surrounding circumstances showed that the wretched man had committed self murder. The musket had been cut off as if for the purpose of enabling him to pull the trigger with his foot A board had been set up against the head back of the bed, with a notch cut in it, in which rest rested the butt of the musket, while the muzzle had evidently been held to the head by one hand The recoil of the gun which must have been charged very heavily, was so severe as to split the board and to throw the musket by a rebound across the dead man's bed and undressed and carefully composed his person in the bed and had drawn a flour sack over his head as if with the intention of preventing his bralns from being scattered about. The Coroner called the following jury, consisting of Messrs. Wm Cornell, A. L. Stadtman, J N Batty, N E. N. East, Joe Smith, and P. S. Caffrey, who after an examination of the premises and the facts, returned the following verdict:

"The jurors being duly sworn do herewith render it as our verdict that the deceased, Andrew Christien, came to his death by the discharge of a musket, in his own hands —he having evidently, to our minds meditated and prepared himself for the work of self-destruction while laboring under aberration of mind, said aberration being known to most of us and observed by us for months past."

CATALOGUE OF THE PACIFIC UNIVERSITY.—A catalogue of the Pacific University, printed by A. G. Walling & Co., of this city, has been laid on our table. From it, we learn that there is in the Collegiate Department of that institution 22 students, 17 in the Primary Department, 40 males and 47 females in the Academic Department. The faculty consists of Rev. S. H. Marsh D D., President and Professor of Intellectual, Political and Moral Philosophy; Rev Horace Lyman, A. M., Professor of Mathematics; G. Collier, Professor of the Natural Sciences; O. Shepardson, A. M., Professor of Ancient Languages and Literature. The trustees are Rev S. H Marsh, President of the board, Rev. Horace Lyman, Rev. G. H Atkinson, Alonzo Hinman, Rev. O. Dickinson, Rev. E. Walker, T. H. Naylor, James Moore, Hon. H. W. Corbett, G. Rev G. H Atkinson, of Portland, is the Secretary, and W. S. Ladd, of Portland, Treasurer. Connected with the University is "the Society of Alumni" In May 1864, and composed of graduates of colleges in all parts of the United States and now resident in Oregon. Among the names we notice quite a number who reside in Portland. The College has a library of about 5,000 volumes, which is open to the students. The academic exercises begin each year on the 24 day of May. The course of study is in substance the same as that pursued in Eastern Colleges and covers four years.

COUNTY COURT.—On Saturday, the 20th, the following business was had in the Recorder's Court.

Julius Kyles charged upon the complaint of John Wesley, with stealing a hat, was dismissed, the supposed stolen hat having been found.

George Farley, charged with assault and battery; trial still to-day.

Wm Taylor, a lad of about fifteen years, was tried for an assault and battery upon Mrs. Victor Beaman, an old lady of nearly nine years. Her testimony was in substance, that hearing a noise in the garden, on the evening of the 17th, she went out to see what caused it, where upon she was hit with a stick thrown by the defendant, and knocked down. The boy's father and uncle testified that during the evening in question, young Taylor was at home till after eight o'clock when he was sent to bed. They were of the impression that he went to bed leaving the house. The jury, consisting of Samuel Simmons, James Wilson, Charles Stewart, L. Bonser, W W Barlow and A. Jeffers, retired and in a few minutes returned into court stating that they were unable to agree. The jury was discharged and the trial will be had over again to-day

A second charge against the same defendant, for breaking the fruit trees of Mrs. Seymour, was not reached. It will be heard this morning.

REVELATION ON THE WILLAMETTE.—A few years since the head of navigation on the Willamette river was supposed to be at Corvallis. The P. T. Co., however, with an enterprise which has done much toward the development of the Willamette valley, as well as to bring in remunerative returns, have, from time to time, pushed their boats further up—first, to Harrisburg, then to Lancaster, then to Eugene City, each of which places has, in its turn, claimed to be "the head of navigation" Last week, however, the company removed the head of navigation to Springfield, still further up toward the mineral belt of the Cascade Range

Rev. Mr. Todd's Lectures The lectures by Rev. Benjamin Todd, at Oro Fino Hall, are drawing crowded houses every evening The audience last evening was about as large as could be got into the hall, and was composed of a person of all possible creeds as well as many of no creed Mr Todd is really an attractive speaker and has evidently well studied his subjects Like most other preachers, however, he talks a good deal of good sound sense, a good deal of humbug, and some matter intended merely to catch the ear or tickle the fancy. His time we are worth taking the trouble to go and hear.

THE O S N Co's STEAMERS.—The Mountaineer on Saturday, the 20th, says, The Oneonta, one of the largest and best steamers belonging to the O. S. N. Company, has been recently newly fitted up, painted, etc. She will "go" to take the place of the Idaho on Monday next. The Ida Ver, the little plowboy of the Columbia, was hauled from her ways on Thursday morning last. She has been undergoing a thorough over hauling and is now ready again to go into commission. During the week past the O. S. N. Co.'s steamers have landed 695 head of cattle at their wharf in this city.

FOR SAN FRANCISCO.—The steamship Orizaba sailed for San Francisco on Saturday evening with the following list of passengers: Wm Folsom, John Fo[illegible] Mrs E Richardson, J W Ladd, E F Woodcock, A M Bloomfield, H O Leonard, Charles Hegle, G W [illegible], A [illegible] Smith and wife, A J Lawrence, A Powell, Mrs H Cotton, C B Rodney, C D Stuart, Wm Kapus, J Brown, J F Clark, wife and child, H W Hyman, D [illegible], E M Brackett, C H Brackett, Miss M Martin, Miss A Dunn, J McGilvary, O J Converse and wife, L Ramsay, Tony White, Mrs Robinson and 90 others. ARRIVAL AT OREGON CITY.—The following telegram was received from Oregon City last evening: Arthur Warner of this place, while having a piece of timber last evening with another man, was struck by it wholly with an axe[illegible] Dr. Barclay, who was called to dress the wound, says the skull was fractured and the wound a dangerous one Mr Warner is one of the best mechanics here and believed by all who know him, and all hope he may recover and be spared to his family."

TIME BY WALLA WALLA.—A letter from Walla Walla to E Parker, Esq., of that place who is now in this city, states that a fire occurred there last Tuesday, burning Elliott's blacksmith shop, Smith & Co's carpenter shop and Shaw's dwelling house. Nothing was saved but a small part of the furniture from the last building The loss will be by estimate to $30,000.

CHANGE OF FIRM.—Messrs. White Bros., corner of Morrison and Front streets, have sold out their large stock of fancy and staple dry goods, clothing, etc., to Messrs. E. Fox & Bros., who will hereafter carry on business in the same line at the same place The Fox Brothers are men of as fair and liberal dealers, and Messrs White Bros in transferring their business, request their old friends to patronize the new firm.

MAY-DAY FESTIVAL.—The several lodges of Good Templars, of this city, have resolved upon having a May-Day festival on the coming 1st day of May, in which they will be joined by the lodges of Oregon City and Vancouver The new Alert has been engaged for the occasion, and the grounds for the celebration have been selected, near the [illegible] site, opposite Oswego.

HOUSES DAMAGED.—The copious rains of Friday night overflowed another flood in Front street, the water coming from the choked sewer of Montgomery street. The result was a slight damage to the new embankment at the junction of Front and Jefferson. A dozen cartloads of dirt will suffice to replace that which was washed away

DIRECTORS OR TRUSTEES.—The stockholders of the Portland Macadamized Road Company, at their meeting on Monday last, elected as directors for the ensuing year, Messrs. L. M. Starr, S. H. Ankeney and H. C Leonard. At a subsequent meeting of the directors, L. M. Starr was elected President of the board.

WESTERN BOUND.—The Oregonian arrived from Astoria, Saturday [illegible] reporting that the Telegraph, Belvidere, Alert and Allen, are weather-bound in the river. The very rough weather last prevailed for several days, making it dangerous to attempt the outward passage.

BAPTISM.—The rite of baptism, by immersion, was administered by Rev. C. C. Stratton, to three persons yesterday. They were dipped in the river at the foot of [illegible] Several others received the rite by sprinkling at the Church.

THE RACE.—It was stated from the pulpit, by Rev. Mr. Atkinson yesterday, that Rev. Mr. Earle is expected to arrive in Portland on Wednesday.

OREGON CITY ITEMS.—From the Enterprise of the 20th, we take the following. Speaking of the paper mill, it says There is now a stock on hand of 1,500 bales As soon as the mill can get a good stock of straw paper ahead the manufacture of printing paper will be commenced, and sufficient stock made in order to keep the market regularly supplied The stockholders are well pleased with the result of the venture Another manufactory of some character not yet publicly stated, is on the tapis in this city Negotiations have been pending between a San Francisco and the P T Co for a site near the northeast corner of the basins and as soon as the agent of the San branch co capital do can return and report, very likely by the mail will be closed He left by the Ajax Mr Geo H Belden on Saturday last completed a survey of the "mill reserve" property in this city, as the land is called, on Main street for the P T Company It is proposed to carry the street through the reserve to the company's basin, and thence leading east will be a street forty feet in width extending over the bluff The remaining portion of the reserve will be platted into lots, recorded, and then offered in the market for sale This ground is very desirable for manufacturing purposes. Mr D. C. Thompson left on Tuesday, with his assistants, intending to be absent one month, surveying the desert wilds for Government. He will start his lines about forty miles east of Dalles City, run in an easterly direction some fifty miles further, thence southward toward the base of the Blue Mountains Mr Thompson has footed it nearly all over Oregon in this branch of the service, and we expect the season's work of 1867 will be of as much value as any other part performed The whole region will be open to settlement as soon as the survey is completed

On last Sunday Mr. Charles Logue, of the Excelsior Market of this city, drove to his slaughter pen north of this city seventy head of fine fat cattle and say as we have ever seen in the State They were sold and fattened by Mr Hewetson, of this county fifteen miles south of Oregon City The average gross weight of each would not be far from 1,500 pounds —An election will be held in Oregon City on Monday the 6th day of May, 1867, for the election of city officers for Oregon City, as follows: One Mayor, one Recorder, seven Councilmen, one Assessor and Collector, one Treasurer, one City Attorney, one Marshal, one Street Commissioner

MORE CAVALRY HORSES.—Mr. Jos Teal, contractor to furnish cavalry horses, arrived from the Upper Willamette, on Saturday, with thirty-six horses, the best lot we have seen. They were sent immediately to Fort Vancouver by the Fannie Troup.

GOING UP THE COLUMBIA.—During the last week the number of passengers leaving this city for the upper Columbia, was about five hundred Over half this number were from the valley of the Willamette.

PRACTICE TO-DAY.—The members of the Pioneer Base Ball Club are requested to meet for practice this afternoon at 4 o'clock, on their grounds across the river

THE IDAHO.—A dispatch of Saturday evening, from San Francisco, says the steamship Idaho sailed from that port for Portland, at noon of that day.

WILL PREACH.—The admirers of Rev Mr Earle will be pleased to learn that he will preach again in this city on Wednesday evening.

TREASURE RECEIPT.—Wells, Fargo & Co received by the Dalles boat, Saturday evening, $6,000 in treasure from the Upper Columbia

English Parliamentary Leaders.

A correspondent of the Chicago Tribune thus sketches some of the notables of the English House of Commons who are now fighting pro and con the battle of reform.

GLADSTONE.

as a speaker, is decidedly the first man in the House of Commons, or perhaps out of it. Mr. Horsman, who is himself among the best orators of the House of Commons, described the eloquence of Mr. Gladstone, the other day, as almost divine. This praise is perhaps exaggerated, but when Mr. Gladstone is addressing an audience on a popular topic in which he feels strongly interested, it is difficult to conceive a higher pitch of human eloquence. He is now verging toward his sixtieth year. The lines of his face show great intellectual energy. His cheeks are crow footed beyond his years, but the forehead is smooth, broad and high. The eye is dark, quick and deeply seated. Mr. Gladstone is of middle hight and of slight figure, which conveys anything but an idea of strength or of robust health. The legs are badly shaped and weak—too feeble, almost, to support the body. This is a defect which is not seen when Mr. Gladstone stands before the table of the House of Commons. There the intellectual man alone is seen; and, on those grand occasions, when great principles have to be asserted and defended, when the existence of a Government is at stake, or when the oratorical powers of rival politicians is conflict, the House of Commons enjoys no greater treat than to listening to its foremost statesman and debater pouring out, hour after hour, a stream of the most polished eloquence, enriched by illustrations derived from wide reading, supported by arguments founded in logic and experience, and animated by a burning desire to promote the prosperity of his country and the world.

DISRAELI.

Of a totally different stamp is his political rival Mr. Disraeli. It has been the misfortune of the leader of the tory party in the Lower House, that the native forces of his mind have been prevented from expanding by the essential principle of conservatism. In an age of progress a man of real intellect must feel himself terrible fettered when he has to appear as the supporter of an antiquated and traditional system. This is painfully apparent in the case of Disraeli. His intellect would lead him on, but there is a dead weight behind which keeps him back. He has to put [illegible] anything but good. It is said that Disraeli was a dandy in time, I suppose, when he wrote the wonderful tale of Alroy," had a handsomer face than there is little of it left now. He retains, however, some of the dandyism of his youthful days and whenever a Parliamentary scene is expected, the Chancellor of the Exchequer is sure to appear in his place with some extravagant sprig of finery of dress. As a speaker, Disraeli wants the fluency of Gladstone. In fact, nature never meant him for an orator. He is an illustration of the principle that the orator is made not born. As a very early age, he was, from instinct, a writer and a critic, in mature life he wants the ease and grace of the perfect speaker. His most effective speeches are those which were prompted by personal spite us, for instance, those in which he mercilessly wounded the late Sir Robert Peel. No happier phrase can describe him better than he used himself in reference to Peel's manner, that of an "organized hypocrisy."

THE EARL OF DERBY.

A more equal match for Mr. Disraeli than he would be the Earl of Derby, but he is in the House of Peers. In his younger days and when a member of the House of Commons, Lord Derby was considered the best debater of the day. He was then called the Canning of the House, and feared no opponent, except perhaps the late Richard Lalor Shiel. Since he went to the House of Lords, Lord Derby has not made half of his youthful fire. The House of Lords as an upper House was to cold for the fervid Irish orator, "Scorpion Stanley," as he was nicknamed him. When at his best there never was a more effective speaker. He was not only a ready but a felicitous in the use of his expressions as a host few men make less preparation for their speeches than Lord Derby.

LORD STANLEY.

Lord Stanley is unlike his father in respect to personal appearance and oratory. He is his very antithesis as a speaker. Slow and deliberate, Lord Stanley never utters a word without due preparation. His manner is frigid. He measures his way and is accordingly the perfection of elegance. He is not brilliant, he is but little colder or various in his style. One would rather trust to the conversation, but would infinitely prefer the [illegible] of the father.

MR HORSMAN

is one of the respectable class of politicians. He is the nephew of a peer, and, therefore, gentlemanly and liberal. He carefully prepares what he says, but what he does say is full of wisdom. Mr Mill is one of the most conscientious of living men. Whatever he says or writes is the result of patient and deliberate reflection. He has the highest opinion of Mr. Bright and Mr. Gladstone, and they have the highest opinion of his estimation of them. He did not hesitate to tell the Scotch, in the ecclesiastical capital of the country, many things which the zealots of that hyper religious portion of the United Kingdom will, no doubt, stigmatize as rationalistic and dangerous; but Mr. Mill is not the man to conceal what he thinks because others may call him names.

Such, then, are the principal combatants who will be arranged on either side of the Speaker's chair, at five o'clock on next Tuesday, after Her Majesty shall have formally opened the session. The debates will be warm, and perhaps passionate. The Reform question will be the most prominent topic, and with Mr. Gladstone for its leader in the House, and the masses for its support outside the House, I predict its final success.

BEGUILING HUNGER.—Want, as has been truly observed, sharpens the brain as well as the stomach. In the time of Atys, the son of Manes, as we read in Herodotus, there was so great a scarcity of provisions among the Lydians that they were glad to have recourse to all sorts of subtle games to beguile their hungry hours. Gaming became at last so absolute a subjutate for food, that every second day they subsisted upon it, if we may so speak, entirely; and we are assured their continued this alternate system of playing and eating for no less than twenty two years, when the country was relieved of its excess of population, by the emigration of a large portion of it to Tyrrhenia, the modern Tuscany. Dice and ball are among the games said to have been invented by the Lydians during this period of famine; so also is chess, but with less appearance of probability. Strange that want should have been the parent of what so often lost to it!

The Horrors of a Steamboat Explosion.

A correspondent writing to the Memphis Avalanche relative to the loss of the Dunoi White, furnishes the following additional particulars:

I was sitting at the time in my state room, near the ladies' cabin, reading. Thrown to my feet, and my hat jerked off by the shock, I rushed into the after part of the boat to see what had become of our three lady passengers, supposing that the gentlemen who had them in charge were all forward when the explosion occurred. Not finding any one in the ladies' cabin, I sprung on the hurricane roof, and oh! my God, the horror, the unspeakable horror of the scene that met my eyes! A vast cloud of burning, hissing steam, mingled with ashes and smoke, was pouring forth as from the crater of a monster volcano, huge masses of the wreck, timbers, planks, parts of the machinery and, most fearful of all, mangled human bodies were flying in all directions. The boat, from her wheelhouse forward, had been blown into atoms, and far around the deep, muddy, murderous waters were strewn with the fragments, while clinging here to a shutter, there to a spar, and here to a broken plank, blackened, scalded faces rose above the surface, shrieking in tones of mortal agony: "For Christ's sake, save me," "Jesus, have mercy!" "For God's sake, help me!"

We were a half mile from either shore, more than one-half of the 150 human beings we had on board either being killed outright or burned or maimed, struggling for life in the pitiless waters around us, and no house, no boat in sight. Great God! preserve me from ever witnessing such a scene again! Our gallant Captain, Dan. Kinney, frightfully scalded, his face and hands covered with blood, was clinging to a spar some thirty yards from the wreck, but so badly burnt that he seemed about to sink. A lot of deck passengers had seized the yawl, and overcome by their villainous fears, were making for the shore, without rendering any assistance to the sufferers around them.

The water was nearly up to the cabin floor, and just as I struck the guards, Mrs. Dr. Shaw, of Memphis, clasped my arm and asked if I could save her. I told her not to be frightened, that I thought that we could get off; and climbing again on the roof, called on all the hands and waiters that were left to help me launch the life-boat. The first to respond to the call was one of the most horrible sights I saw during the day—a little negro boy, an engine greaser, stark naked except a piece of shirt, and scalded from his waist to his feet till the great flakes of bloody skin rolled down his legs every time he moved. He had hold, saying, as he did so, "Ah boss, I'se most gone; I'se burnt all over, but dis boat must get in de river!" Horrible little negro! He was rescued, but they say will die. Just at this moment Mr. John H. Triplett, the only one of Dr. Shaw's assistants in the office who escaped, reached the roof. Although badly burned, his coolness and courage did much toward saving those who were still on the wreck. The first mate was killed, but the second, Mr. N. W. Monro, now reached us, and with the help of some of the waiters and hands, we shoved the life boat off. The water was now up to the cabin floor. Mr. Triplett and Dr. Shaw, one of the owners of the White, assisted the three ladies and the invalid, Mr. Klein into the boat.

And then came a rush of the panic-stricken waiters, chambermaids and deck hands. Mr. Triplett stood his ground gallantly, but in spite of his exertions, aided faithfully by John Hopk ns, the colored Steward, the boat was swamped in an instant, and I found myself buttoned up in a heavy, gray cassimere suit, buffeting the surges of the mighty Mississippi. All that I saw after this was in the character of a "floater." As the life-boat went down, Dr. Shaw and Mr. Triplett, who throughout showed the coolness of veterans, succeeded with the aid of the steward and cook, in getting the ladies and Mr. Klein back on the hurricane roof.

Captain Kinney, burned and bleeding as he was, called to them, from the fragment of the wreck to which he was clinging, to "take care of the ladies!" Finding that my heavy clothes were about to sink me, I succeeded in swimming, though utterly exhausted, to a broken spar; and now commenced a long, almost hopeless floating of two or three miles in the icy water. Several sank around me, several died of cold. As, wholly powerless, I drifted past Tom, one of the negro waiters, he clutched at my spar; it was so round that the slightest touch rolled it over, and feeling that I had become too numbed to regard my position, I ordered him off. He soon after caught a floating door, and was taken out nearly dead with colds two or three miles below.

A few minutes afterward the life-boat, bottom upward, floated by within about twenty yards of me, with four fellows sitting straddle of the sharp edged keel, and balancing themselves as carefully as tight rope performers. I asked them why they didn't turn her over and get in, they said there was a man hanging on each side, so near gone that they would drown if they had to let go. They both died of cold a short distance below. The four on the keel were afterward rescued. The main wreck was all this time, drifting down, not more than a hundred yards above me. Dr. Shaw and Triplett, calm and collected, encouraged the ladies and others who remained on the roof. The ladies all the way through behaved like heroines—not a scream was heard from one of them—not as much terror shown during our greatest danger as I have seen sentimental misses exhibit if a Moses-like old cow chanced to turn her head toward them.

WHY WOMEN CANNOT ENTER MASONIC LODGES.—Frequent complaints are made by ladies in relation to Masonry, and their principle arguments are that their husbands have no business to do anything that they cannot tell their wives—that that which is secret must be wrong—that it is only a mean excuse, and so on. One branch of the subject seems however, to be capable of legendary explanation, and the Norfolk Journal publishes thereon the following paragraph:

When King Solomon was still a young man he had married his seventh wife. She was a beautiful Ammonitess, with looks as black as the raven's wing and eyes as bright as the eagle's. It was believed that she was the favored fair one among all the Sultanas of the Greek King, for his affections were not divided then as they afterwards became. She knew her power, and used it unsparingly, in addition to her other qualities she was as inquisitive as ever was a woman on this earth. One evening King Solomon attended a Lodge on some grand occasion, and staid out rather late. When he returned home he found the fair Ammonitess in the dumps, and pouting just like the dear wives of Masons do sometimes now when their lords stay out too late at the Lodge. She upbraided him with neglecting her, insinuated that he had not been to the Lodge as he pretended, and insisted that in future he should give proof that he went there by having herself initiated, so that she might go there and watch him. "Daughter of Ammon," replied the King, "thou hast behaved thyself as one of the foolish women in presuming to question thy lord and master. Thou art not so angry with me as thou pretendest to be; for the true reason of this behavior is thy insatiable curiosity, in which thou excellest Eve herself. Know, then, that I here ordain that neither then nor any of thy inquisitive sex after thee ever enter the Portals of a Masonic Lodge, but I shall enjoin the Tyler to pierce through with his sword any woman that shall attempt to enter a Lodge; aye, even thee, Queen of Israel though thou be!" And that ordinance of the wisest of monarchs has continued in force till this day.

The late William Garth, of Bourbon county, Ky., who was lost, with his wife, on the steamer Lady Elgin, in a storm on Lake Michigan, in 1860, left a will in which he bequeathed his property to Bourbon county for educational purposes. The Paris Citizen says that a law has passed the Legislature to secure and perpetuate the Garth fund. This fund, which will amount to $45,000, will be paid over in a few days by John Lucas, to the Treasurer of the county. The fund is to be invested in safe, paying stocks, and the principal is to be kept intact in all time to come, while the dividends or interest is to be devoted to the education of the poor but worthy young men of Bourbon county.

The will of the late Paschal P. Pope, of Boston, makes the following bequests: To the Boston Society of Natural History, $20,000; to the Temporary Home for the Destitute, $10,000; to the Boston Dispensary, $20,000, Sailors' Snug Harbor, $30,000; Howard Benevolent Society, $20,000; Boston Provident Association, $10,000, Home for Aged Men, $30,000; Harvard College, for a Professorship of the Latin Language and of Literature, $50,000.

In Kentucky lives a man, the head of a very respectable and intelligent family, who, during one week in each month, about the first quarter of the moon, imagines himself a woman, dons the hoops and balmoral, and sits in his parlor waiting for his beau! This strange conduct was noticed in him when he was about 17 years of age. He is now 51.

OF BALTIMORE,

ARE ACKNOWLEDGED BY THE ENTIRE SAN Francisco jobbing trade to be beyond comparison the best that come to this market. That

THEIR EXCELLENCE IS NOT IMAGINARY,

Any one who has tried them will admit, and the simple secret of their superiority, lies in the extreme care and immense expense lavished upon their preparation. Each Oyster is opened by hand with the knife with strict regard to the preservation of the Liquor, by which means all the original flavor is retained. Contrast this method with the one usually pursued of opening the Oysters in bulk by steaming, by which means the native Liquor is lost, and a manufactured one is substituted, and therefore an for the actual superiority of this brand is at once apparent.
